One of the memories I have from childhood (which has turned into a practice still today) was that any time a storm came about, we would usually light a candle. The purpose was quite simple- in the case we lost power we'd have at least a little light flickering and dancing about to help guide the way. It was a rather fascinating ritual, because that candle seemed to have the power to dispel any sort of wind, hail, or lightning that would come our way, or at least it felt that comforting, even if, in reality, it may not change the situation we were in, or stop the power from going out!

The first reading spoke of manna in the desert, and this was a relief and comfort to the Israelites as they were released from the Egyptians and found themselves needing to rely on someone else for food. That someone else was God- and He provided in abundance. Notice the encouragement- Moses reminds them not to forget the Lord, who lead them past all sorts of perils and dangers- from serpents, to the desert, and lead them to a place of overabundant food and water.

We have something far better in our midst. The Eucharist serves in the place of the manna and rock of plenty as we receive Jesus. He is the source that will truly satisfy our deepest longings, if we allow Him. But perhaps it is important for us to know that the Eucharist is to lead us through the struggles, the trials, and the situations we find ourselves in. Sure, it may not remove those situations, but it will give us the strength to endure until we see the sun again- or even the Son in the Kingdom of Heaven.

Just like the light of a simple candle, do not forget the Lord who wants to comfort you in the midst of life's storms with the gift of the Eucharist.
